Thank you Rob, for replying. Yes you may use this for a submission to the committee, if this helps with moving a decision along.

I believe now with the use of the Internet, Facebook, animal lovers have a voice bringing the rights of animals to the governments attention.

If you look into these animal rescue volunteer groups, one can feel only gratitude for these people who give their time and hearts to these neglected animals.

I will write emails, march, donate and foster, whatever it takes to have puppy farms banned.

The support and comments, if you check, will surprise you, how many people give words of encouragement I am one only! Of these who also do

Prefer you email

Dear Sir/Madam

Thank you for your email to the Agriculture and Environment Committee about their Inquiry into the Animal Management (Protecting Puppies) and Other Legislation Amendment Bill 2016.

If you would like the committee to treat your email as a submission to the inquiry, please let us know by return email or by calling our office.

If you haven't already done so, we encourage you to include your physical address and contact telephone number should the committee wish to contact you about your submission. The address and phone details you provide are for the committee's information only.

If you have any concerns about providing your details, or questions about the committee's processes, please email or give me a call.
