Dear Sir,

Am so pleased to hear the Vegetation Management (Reinstatement) and Other Legislation Amendment Bill 2016 has been referred to the Agriculture and Environment Parliamentary Committee for an Inquiry.

The loss of habitats for our animals, particularly our threatened species, resulting from tree clearing, and the releasing of millions of tonnes of CO2 is of great concern for us today and into the future.

I think the Bill is good for a number of reasons, but particularly because it restores protection for ecologically important regrowth of woodlands on freehold and Aboriginal lands.

Yours Sincerely

Margaret Schofield
