I am so done with attempted break ins to my home. Literally every country le of weeks. In a rental I have had to spend a small fortune on home security that does not damage the home. Every time I hear a dog bark nearby, I wake up and stay up in fear someone is going to try break in. I want the right to keep a meat cleaver by the bed. If they get into the house and take keys and steal cars, fine. That is what insurance is for. If they invade my personal space while I am asleep with my cat and my partner, I will fight. The way it stands, I can go to gaol for that.
