I do not consent to this bill being passed as it limits my human rights. While I believe it is absolutely important to monitor who is allowed access to firearms in this state, I do not believe that someone's opinion on social media or their associations with people who have a criminal history alone are grounds for loss of license. It is a conflict of interest and provides too much power to the governing body. This only opens a preverbal Pandora's box for the Queensland government to potentially pick and choose what narrative suits them to achieve other interests without considering me the individual. The community needs more time to respond to this matter properly and fairly.

Jeremy Starrs.
