Subject: Supposed new firearms laws.

To whom it may concern.

There is a lot consideration required to pass such laws on the responsible gun owners of this state and what seems to be a lack of considerable time in which to do so. Guilty by association via social media ? Guilty of the crime of having a different opinion??

Guilty until proven innocent, isn't that the exact opposite of just law??

This seems to give the state and police extreme powers driven by their own opinions. Revoke the licence and the firearms for acts outside of a firearms offence? Didn't see anyone in Sydney having their kitchen knives removed after a stabbing they had nothing to do with.

There is an extreme lack of firearms offences in this county to suddenly need these types of over reaching powers. Registered guns and gun owners are not the problem, never have been. Criminals are the issue and having a difference in opinion is not a crime.
