It is time to end the state of emergencies. The people of Queensland have endured enough. Wild predictions of what would happen have not occurred, the modelling was false. Countries around the world are winding back restrictions, it is time to end the state of emergencies and remove all restrictions.

If people still want to wear masks, they can. If people still want to get boosters, they can. Vaccination should have always been a personal choice, people have lost jobs over a personal medical decision, the people of Queensland will not forget this. Mandates need to end and people who have lost their jobs over this decision need to be reinstated. The rule of law has been overridden for too long, and Queenslanders know this. Government overreach needs to end, it is time to end it all and unify Queensland, people are hurting, small businesses are hurting. Businesses cannot find people to fill jobs, the mandates whether from private business or from government need to end and this starts with the ending of the state of emergencies.

Iceland are ending all restrictions and saying as many people as possible need to get infected with the Omicron strain.

European countries are dropping restrictions on unvaccinated travellers coming to the country and so is Israel.

Italy is ending it's Covid state of emergency on March 31.

Yet we are keeping restrictions on citizens and forcing travellers into quarantine, who is going to want to travel to Queensland if they have to quarantine?

While countries are dropping restrictions on unvaccinated travellers Queensland are building quarantine camps? How does this make sense? If it was about your health, should we not be building hospitals and treatments to treat people, not lock them up? There has been virtually no movement on treatments in almost 2 years, but there has been billions pumped into vaccines and PPE, and millions pumped in to quarantine facilities.

The majority of deaths are now in the vaccinated, which shows that it is not as effective as claimed. Studies are coming out, while they are in vitro studies, they are showing that the mRNA is able to reverse transcriptase into DNA. While it is in vitro, this should be ringing alarm bells and forcing a halt on the vaccine rollout until more studies are done. We were told by scientists and fact checkers that this could not happen. This has not been studied longterm and you are forcing it on the citizens of this great state. It is time to end the experiment and the state of emergencies.
