To whom it may concern

There is no justification to do this. Mandates have proven to cause more harm than good. Omnicom is the last wave of the virus and will not cause serious harm when treated early. The experimental vaccines are causing so many adverse events and death. I can understand why the politicians and union leaders have given themselves exemption from the vaccine.

It is criminal what the Australian politicians have done to the people of Australia. Mandates have caused incredible harm. Small businesses closed, people being told no job no job, social isolation, children lost 2 years of education and social connections with their friends, increase in suicide, DV, love ones dying alone.
The list goes on.

Premier, you keep saying you want to keep Queenslanders safe!
Is this your idea of safety?

Step back and let people with their Doctors be responsible for their own health.

Australian politicians have done this by, in the main, not being vaccinated.

Time to show some humanity.
