I write to advise that I do not support the government extending their emergency powers. This was unnecessary from the very beginning, Sweden proves this with a less than one percent increase in excess mortality over a five year rolling average - no emergency powers, no lockdowns, no forced experimental injections, no forcing small businesses to close, no limits on social gatherings/interactions, no mandates as a condition of employment, no masks, etc.

Government officials and medical bodies have lost a great deal of trust and respect in the eyes of most Australians, the people they are supposed to serve. Any further encroachment on our freedoms and liberties will only further prove that you serve the global elites, the Davos clique, to help usher in the great reset.

The war in Ukraine serves as a timely reminder to reflect back on all the sacrifices Australians soldiers have made, ultimately with their lives to protect this beautiful country and its sovereignty throughout history. Extending these emergency powers and selling us out to a one world government would be the greatest betrayal to our fallen Diggers.

I'd be shocked if my submission was read word for word.
