To Whom it May Concern,

After the latest release of Pfizers documents, even if you extend the emergency powers until October, you'd be crazy to use them to enforce your health dictatorship. Now you know there is evidence from the providers of the vaccines with data showing vaccines and mandates don't work, like other countries, you might be sued for negligence as you wilfully pursued mandates despite the evidence. This means even with emergency powers you and your government will be liable for anything related to vaccines and mandates, including those in high risk settings such as schools and hospitals. The evidence is closing in on you and if your helpers can't see that or tell you about it, that they must be making money off it somehow.

I'm sure you'll make the right decision for the people, to be inclusive and anti discriminatory, you know, all those other pieces of legislation you are accountable for which have been trampled over the past few years.

Stop the emergency extension bill and end all mandates.

Enjoy
