To the Committee Secretary,

I object vehemently to this bill admendment. There is NO health state of emergency at the moment so if you need to extend it, that tells me this isn't about health but control and other agendas!

I'm dealing with extreme mental health issues with one child due to these over-the-top lockdowns after a decade of sacrifice for others, two other sons who have coped better with their life plans being twisted/complicated or ripped from them and 4 others struggled keeping businesses going while juggling young families. Yes, I have a few children...all 8 are very bright, capable adults with, I'm told, an exceptional work ethic by today's standards so pay significant taxes to this country. But because individuals cope differently it results in other splits/hurts in a family. My 16 yo lost her traineeship at a pharmacy because she didn't feel right about getting a vaccine when she really is at minimal risk and a friend had ended up in ICU for days after being vaccinated and they tried to force that boy to get another job. What logic is in that!! I've worked in medicine and if someone had a severe reaction to a vaccine they were usually given an exemption. So again, is this all really about health now??

However, if this is how it has affected my family, I hate to imagine how all those in bigger cities being locked in their homes (especially Melbourne) or totally lost their businesses/jobs are affected. But those in government still are getting their big wages and are so self centred that they think how we (who ultimately pay their wage) don't matter.

Well I'm warning you THAT is changing. The last 2 years have embittered many, especially towards governments who don't make logical scientific mandates...only vaccinated individuals were allowed back into the state but that's when our Covid numbers skyrocketed. I used the word 'scientific' because in TRUE science it is about open discussion of ALL research not censored information. It's clear from my research (which isn't just fb) that the highest covid risk factors are the usual for many causes of death...age, obesity, high blood sugars (many in our society are pre diabetic without knowing it), other comorbidities, lack of good nutrition, water and exercise, appropriate sun exposure for Vitamin D and STRESS. So did you inform Australians how to boost their immune systems and reduce covid risk? No! Government 'encouraged' main stream media to throw at the population purely and CONSTANTLY... Covid, Covid figures, Premier Updates -> fear then it was VACCINES, get another and another (AND if you don't we'll remove your right to work -> fear) but Covid is passing through our communities more than ever and you have no concrete proof that vaccines have reduced its severity. Covid is really just another type of flu which we've lived with forever. Maybe in the early stages, some precautions were necessary but to extend for over 2 years. Some years many died of flu BUT we never dealt with it by severe lockdowns affecting the whole population, creating huge amounts of other problems and breaking our society down. I'm starting to think that's some individual's intention ...to destroy society as we know it! I challenge all voting on this amendment to prove it's not, by kicking such dictatorial amendments out. Especially DO NOT ATTEMPT to SNEAK them through, evidently the intent when so many have to focus on dealing with the current REAL emergency of severe flooding and loss right now.

If there is FREEDOM in a society you build a strong society that will rally around it's government, not resist it.

Regards

Helen Reinke
