Comments:

1. There is absolutely no justification for extending these emergency powers
2. This "pandemic" is now endemic. Furthermore, according to true definition of pandemic, the death rates did not warrant it being called that
3. The mandates against unvaccinated clearly were a cynical measure when it abundantly apparent that vaccinated are spreading COVID-19 and dying from it.
4. The mental and financial welfare for Queenslanders has been completely ignored throughout this process
5. Many western countries around the world have moved on from the draconian measures enforced via these emergency powers and we should follow suit quickly to get things back to normal

Finally, it is absolutely disgusting that you would restrict unvaxxed people from parliament when there is no mandate on members of parliament to be vaxxed AND it is indisputable that vaxxed individuals spread COVID as much as unvaxxed.

I would like the government to seriously consider the appalling fearmongering they unleashed on the public for two years only to now speak of covid deaths as a statistic. What changed between then and then?
