I, Aimmie Tomlinson, of [REDACTED], do not agree to this amendment bill being passed in parliament today. I am a teacher and mother of two young children who had had enough of the social segregation, workplace segregation, senseless mandates and livelihood rules in place in our state and country.

There is clear evidence that vaccines and mandates do not work in the way that the government expected them to. There are contradicting rules bringing society to give up on life and it is appalling. Businesses are closing, people aren't able to make ends meet as they cannot work due to being unvaccinated, yet 1500 unvaccinated people can walk through a Westfield shopping centre without batting an eyelid.

The passing of this amended bill will not help anybody. Enough is enough. Let this country and state get back to normal. The agenda that the government has is not in its peoples best interest in any way, shape or form anymore. Just stop.

Kind regards,

Aimmie Tomlinson
