To whom it may concern,

My position is that these Emergency Measures are doing more harm than good and should be stopped.

Very early in the Covid-19 Pandemic," there was enough evidence from experts to have done away with these emergency measures / never used them. It was always questionable, how this virus came about and was patented. You can't patent something that is natural. On Jan 6, 2004, at a Merck conference "Sars and Bio-Terrorism ..." the language such as "The New Normal" that the governments have been using, was coined.

But however, this came about, and by whom, the effects on our community have taken its toll.

People unable to connect with loved ones, the use of masks which have clearly cannot prevent the transmission, and meanwhile are creating health problems due to not getting fresh air that we need at this time. The decrease in mental health and the rise in suicides should be enough reason to stop mandating these.

The media response, in following the mandates is also deplorable. When numbers of people at rallies get minimised to insignificant, and people getting a jab that clearly is not safe or effective are being made into heroes when there is evidence of transmission from the jabbed to affect others - this is biased reporting. The injuries are seldom reported on mainstream media Why doesn't the media report the real footage of people dying after a jab? Why aren't people warned that this jab is an experiment? Why are doctors who stand up for their patients harassed? Why aren't other doctors telling their patients the truth- that they are in a high risk category, and their chances of surviving Covid are better than their chances of surviving the jab?

The personal hardships and family devastation after injuries are ignored by the Australian and State governments -as they prefer to indemnify the manufacturers. These same manufacturers clearly know and list many of the injuries that can be caused by their products.

It is even more callous and culpable of the government to continue emergency procedures separating and dividing our people into 2 classes during a time of flood emergency. Does Queensland expect volunteers to be double jabbed before saving lives during the storms in March 2022? The despicable language is used to depict peaceable, loving, caring, and often highly educated people, whose skills are still needed. But these emergency measures have deemed them useless, less than, etc. Heroes have been thrown to the scrap heap, innocent lives have already been lost, compassion has not been afforded, hospitals have begun to separate/ discriminate who they see and many people have not had health care provided to them because of these ridiculous orders. Many of these people were the front-line heroes! The tyranny has to stop. Those who vote for a continuation of this emergency must understand the weight of their decisions.

The attached photo- shows clearly the media bias. Nothing about this report is fair. All language has been designed to dictate what the government sees as acceptable.

The size of 1 person compared to a mere snapshot of swelling numbers on the street - the individual hero is larger than life, but the group, minimised and dismissed.
