To whom it may concern,

I strongly object to any Extension of the Emergency Bill.

The original Emergency Bill was granted based on a death rate from the Alpha and Delta Variants. Not only has it now been widely proven and admitted that deaths related to either variant was significantly over exaggerated than originally documented, but further Omicron's rate is extremely low, with most people's infection being on par with a mild cold.

Deaths are low, case number prediction and modelling is substantially overinflated, symptoms are mild.

Any extension would be a gross abuse of power. The SOE and associated mandates are causing harm to everyday Australians, breaking up families, relationships and friendships, and creating a discriminatory and two tiered society. How heartbreaking, epically how disproportionate the rules have been to the threat.

The mental health pandemic, the unemployed pandemic, the fear and broken spirit pandemic, the loss of trust in government pandemic are all a far greater ongoing threat than the 'reasons' to extend the SOE.
