Dear Committee Secretary,

I am writing as I do not support the bill for the extension by the government of the emergency powers.

There is no emergency in Queensland. People are not dying in the streets. The hospitals are having problems because they are short staffed, as the government has continued to cut funding from the clinical services where they are needed and fund top heavy administration.

There is no major threat from covid.

There is no need for ANY so-called emergency to be legislated for.

Signed,

Sharon Chant
