Dear Sirs,

I urge the state government to reconsider the reform to abolish the right of a landlord to not renew a tenancy at the end of an agreed term. Landlords should be allowed not to renew a tenancy if they want the house for their own use or if they wish to sell the house soon. Under such circumstances, it may be fair to require the landlord to inform the tenant that the tenancy shall not be renewed one or two months before the end of the tenancy.

Thank you
