I wish to add my opinion to this enquiry as follows:

The importance of this 'grey nomad tourism' to those towns and regions of Queensland should be encouraged and the best way to do this isto ensure that there is enough facilites for them to participate in 'playing tourist' in most regions of QLD.

Make sure that caravan parks and other sites are there for them to spend time enjoying each regions sights and sounds and thereby creating an inexpensive environment for these tourists, who I might add are willing to contribute to a region in some small way. Encouraging overseas tourists to participate will also bring more people to Australia as its not only the young who love to travel this way.
