I was physically and mentally abused by my female partner over the span of 3 years she is the mother of my child also and has now been deported back to NZ as she had been in jail in Victoria for over 12 months. I am 6'6 and approx 130kgs and only ever acted in self defence as I was brought up not to hurt a female and I am willing to get the police reports to prove my story. I know the majority of DV offences are committed by males but the percentage of females committing and being convicted of DV and other violent crimes needs to be addressed by authorities and published in the media
