Public schools ask for a resource fund to be made to the school each year. After uniforms, school shoes, bags, lunchboxes and school books/stationery this is another expense for families. Many families are struggling to find enough money for their kids to catch a bus to school. In addition to this public schools need to be funded better to provide teachers aids, psychologists and additional support for kids with diagnosed behavioural and learning difficulties. The assimilation of kids with high needs into main stream schools is a wonderful idea for inclusion and diversity however the necessary resource funding has not been met and many children are suffering and being left behind. Education is the key for many many children and it is so important that public schools have the resources to adequately support a good learning environment for all
