To The Education Minister

As a home educator there are many reasons we chose to homeschool

- School refusal
- Bullying and degrading behaviours (intentional and unintentional)
- Lack of individual learning opportunities
- A strict cookie cutter mentality
- Others points of view of what one can and can't achieve restricting progress

And there are many more reasons we chose to stay

- Our kids are happier
- Our kids have a sense of belonging both at home and with in the community
- The ability to express themselves freely
- The freedom to explore passions and expand their knowledge.
- Guiding OUR children individually along their journey
- Instilling family values

The schooling religion is not for all as no religion is good for all.

The most important skill is to know how to learn and with that you can learn ANYTHING.

I oppose the mention of The Australian National Curriculum in the legislation for homeschoolers. I DO NOT consent to the Government taking control of my children's learning.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Sincerely,
Charlotte Allen
