Dear Members of the Education, Employment and Training Committee, I am the eldest child in a homeschooling family, therefore we would be negatively affected by the proposed changes to the Education Act. I am writing this now to strongly implore you to vote against these changes. I am already getting a good education, and I have learned so much under Mummy's teaching that even though I am 8 and in Grade 3 mostly, I am in Grade 4 maths, and zooming through it. It would make Mummy very stressed, and she already gets much so in her day-to-day life as a mother of four kids . There are so many better ways of ensuring everyone is well educated. In summary, forcing homeschoolers to follow the Australian Curriculum, and adding so many more hoops to jump through, is a bad idea and I implore you, with all the strength of my strong 8-year-old heart and mind, to vote NO and think of all the people who will be so grateful to you for this. Sincerely, [REDACTED]
