

Education (General Provisions) and Other Legislation Amendment Bill 2024

Submission No: 117
Submitted by: Rachel Larkham
Publication: Making the submission and your name public
Attachments: No attachment

Submitter Comments:

Dear Committee Members, I am writing to express my deep concern regarding the proposed overregulation of homeschooling practices. As a homeschooling parent deeply invested in my children's education, I urge the committee to reconsider these measures, which threaten to undermine the autonomy and effectiveness of homeschooling. It is essential to recognize that homeschooling families do not seek to replicate the traditional school system at home. Rather, we embrace the opportunity to provide a personalized, holistic education that aligns with our children's unique needs, interests, and learning styles. This approach fosters a love of learning, encourages critical thinking, and nurtures individual talents and passions. The imposition of rigid regulations and standardized requirements would only serve to stifle the flexibility and creativity that are the hallmarks of homeschooling. We reject the notion that one-size-fits-all mandates can adequately address the diverse needs of homeschooling families and their children. Instead of focusing on excessive regulation, I urge the committee to support policies that empower homeschooling parents. By fostering a supportive environment that values parental expertise and encourages innovation, we can ensure that all children have access to a high-quality education that prepares them for success in the 21st century. In conclusion, I appeal to the committee to listen to the voices of homeschooling families and to respect our autonomy in crafting educational experiences that best serve our children. Let us work together to create a regulatory framework that preserves the essence of homeschooling while ensuring accountability and quality education outcomes. Thank you for your attention and consideration. Sincerely, Homeschooling Parent and Advocate