I oppose the proposed legislation bill for the following reasons. - ACARA is not an appropriate definition of high quality learning - child safety is not the role of the home education unit to monitor and we don't need it to be held to a higher standard than any other family with children just because we homeschool - parents need time to create an annual plan when leaving the school system, provisional registration provides safety for families suffering school trauma. Please listen to your homeschool community. I do not agree with removing gendered language. In many languages of the world it is not only recognized that there are female and male genders, but masculine and feminine attributes that dictate what words are used. Whether we choose to be specific genders or not, does not change that genders are a part of our biology and pretending it doesn't exist will do nothing but be detrimental to children and how they grow into adults.
