

Education (General Provisions) and Other Legislation Amendment Bill 2024

Submission No: 290
Submitted by: Graeme Scott
Publication: Making the submission and your name public
Attachments: No attachment

Submitter Comments:

Please vote against this Bill. There is provision in the Bill for the government to decide the best parenting and educational choices for the children. It is a widely accepted view that homeschooled children represent a substantial number of entrepreneurs in the community. As a homeschooling parent and a business owner who has employed hundreds of young people over the decades it is my opinion that the Australian Curriculum will not prepare my children for the future they are already carving out for themselves both economically and in the sporting world as state representatives. For us to have our educational choices determined by the government would be detrimental to our children's growth and development. I am sure this is also the case for other homeschoolers.