Home schooling curriculum should in the main be the decision of parents, since they have chosen an education path other than the state system. In particular, values and sex education must remain the choice of parents. Parents must be allowed to educate their children in accord with logico-empiricist science and traditional, orthodox Judeo-Christian culture and not to be forced to promote such nonsenses as someone born with XY chromosomes can really be or become a woman (i.e. a person with XX chromosomes).
