I am friends with a large home school Co-op. I am considering home schooling as well. I have watched the activities they do, but more closely have seen children in families thrive without using the Australian curriculum. Sometimes I think they are receiving a better education than my children who are in mainstream school. I believe that changing home school requirements would be detrimental to the education of those choosing homeschool and also to their family life. I oppose the proposed bill. I strongly believe the Australian curriculum is not what makes a high quality education.
