Subject: Preserving Homeschooling Autonomy: Supporting Individualized Learning

Dear Committee Members,

I am writing to emphasize the transformative impact of homeschooling on my 5 grandchildren's education and to express my strong opposition to the proposed imposition of the Australian Curriculum on home educating families.

Homeschooling has allowed my son to tailor my grandchildren's education to their specific interests, talents, and abilities. This personalized approach has ignited their passions for learning and enabled them to focus on areas that are meaningful and conducive to their future endeavors and career aspirations.

I firmly believe that mandating adherence to the Australian Curriculum would undermine the flexibility and autonomy that are fundamental to homeschooling. It would impose unnecessary constraints on my sons ability to provide our grandchildren with a tailored education that meets their individual needs and fosters their intellectual and personal growth.

As a proud grandparent of homeschooled grandchildren, I urge the committee to respect the diversity of approaches within homeschooling and to refrain from imposing one-size-fits-all regulations. Let us continue to nurture our children's curiosity and creativity, empowering them to thrive academically and pursue their passions with enthusiasm and purpose.

Thank you for considering my perspective.

Sincerely,

Bronwyn Lloyd-Jones
