To The Parliament Committee,

I am writing in submission to the proposed changes to comply with the Australian curriculum. I personally can not handle going to mainstream school, I am not social and struggle to be around so many people. I am currently working above the Australian curriculum and have improved both academically and socially since I started with my online highschool. Although I am excelling in most subjects, I'm not overly great at English, in mainstream school I would be left to struggle and get moved up to the next year level even though I am not in grade.

These changes would prevent me from attending my online school and force me to comply with the Australian curriculum. I enjoy my online classes and wish to continue with them.

Please consider the freedom of education choices for students like me, when you are considering these changes. The Australian Curriculum is outdated, boring and needs improving to be more engaging and flexible to suit all learning styles.

Kind Regards,
