To whom it may concern

I am writing to ask you not to pass this amendment. It would create an impossible situation for homeschool families.

I have homeschooled my children for the last 15 years in Queensland and I have loved the freedom to teach them I'm a group setting for many subjects. The group learning has brought much discussion like all in the same classroom would.

The curriculum can be done in many ways and not so rigid as you are trying to legislate.

I believe it would mean many children would suffer if you change this in the home education situation.

Please I implore you to think again before legislating these changes. We would be very thankful. I believe that qld has such a great home school system already why change it??

Thank you .

Louise Wilson.
