Dear Committee,

My name is [REDACTED], and I'm 7 years old.

I'm homeschooled with my brother and sister, and I don't like the changes in the Education Bill 2024.

I went to school for a while in 2022/23 but I didn't like it because the learning was quite boring, I found it very hard to concentrate and some of the children were unkind to me. I have ADHD so it is hard to stay focussed if the work feels boring, the national curriculum wasn't a good fit for me. Since homeschooling, my parents let me learn about things I'm interested in, like space and science, it is really fun and I am learning really well, my favourite thing to do is read!

I get together with homeschool friends to learn subjects like math, science, history and art, we go on trips and do experiments, I don't want that to change.

I think only my parents and I should decide how I learn.

Thank you for listening.
