Dear Committee Members, I am writing to express my strong opposition to the proposed changes in homeschooling legislation, particularly the requirement to follow a specific curriculum. As a homeschooling parent deeply committed to my children's educational journey, I urge the committee to consider the detrimental impact of forcing homeschooling families to follow a mandated curriculum. For many years our family have sourced excellent resources to provide our children a very high quality education. The children have thrived under this model of learning. Homeschooling allows our children to pursue their passions, delve deeply into subjects that captivate their curiosity, and develop the skills necessary to succeed in their chosen paths. By imposing rigid educational requirements, we risk depriving our children of the opportunity to pursue their passions and develop their full potential. Thank you for considering my concerns.
