I am a grandfather of 12 grandchildren, 9 have been in the State School system that was failing them miserably, and are now flourishing doing Home School. 3 are in a private school Which is a Christian School and they are doing well also. Instead of trying to make Homeschooling more difficult to push them back into the State Schools, why don't you address why they left the State School system in the first place. No matter how hard you try and make it for them, they're not going back. My grandchildren's wellbeing is top priority for me. The children don't want to go back to school with all the anxiety that involved. Fix your school curriculum and negative issues that the Queensland State School has deteriorated to and mothers and fathers might trust you enough to return their children to your care, but not as it is. Thanks for your attention in this matter, please listen.
