To whom this may concern, This is to inform you that we as parents object to the proposed changes to homeschooling in Queensland. Our concerns are: Some of our children are creative and/or sensory children and do not learn in the conventional schooling environment. We know this fact as we have tried a number of different teaching styles including a class room style. To which they have regressed until we realised that they learn better when focusing on their interests in a hands on approach. As parents we have the intuition to love, nurture and create an environment of learning to fit our children specifically. We do not need nor want any constraints on how to teach our child to become a responsible valued member of society. We are already adhering to the Australian standards through HEU and do not need to have that changed. This change will affect our children and us very negatively. It will cause an immense amount of stress and pressure and no one learns well under those conditions, thus putting extra strain on already straining government systems. As a country that boasts of its freedom, this will only be another step in the wrong direction - a step toward limitations, overbearing rulings and suffering children and learning abilities." It is only in the presence of loving, respectful, trusting adults that children will learn all they are capable of learning, or reveal to us what they are learning" - John Holt Thankyou.
