My granddaughters have both been registered homeschoolers for over 6 years. they are 12 and 16 years old now. Please consider NOT allowing these amendments to pass. These children are thriving members of society already and to put more stress onto their family by adding more legislative hoops so to speak, they will be denied the education they deserve. if you are going to push the curriculum onto them, especially until grade 12, then at least give them a graduating certificate. these amendments would stop them from being able to do any university units, this would stop the pathway into university degrees after schooling.
