Submitter Comments:

the legislature is presumptuous and presupposes government education to be 'high quality'. This is not only misleading but inaccurate. I attended school until year 12 and came away incredibly unprepared for the 'real world'! Government based education is a fraction of what a child needs and therefore is low quality. Mind your own business disconnected paper pushers (government) and stick to things you know about like backhanded deals that are in the best interests of the few & undermine the many. Only kidding. But seriously mind your own business, parent your own offspring.
