Dear Committee Members, My name is [REDACTED] and I am 11 years of age. I am writing to express my opposition to changing the way homeschool parents teach their children. Homeschooling is not doing school at home. It is more than that. As well as learning English and Math, I am learning things that I would actually use in my life, for example, sewing, cooking, gardening and having the responsibility to take care of your own pets. I can learn things at my own pace whenever I want, wherever I want and however I want. I enjoy having the time to pursue my own interests. I have set up my own hobby business, making hair scrunchies, headbands, cushions, hair braids and bracelets. I have helped run market stalls where I have served customers, written down their orders and calculated the change to give. I have posted orders all around Australia and am now confident in sending mail. I am learning how to play the piano as well as having ballet and musical theatre lessons. I would never have had the time to do these activities if I had extra school work to do that was of no interest to me. I hope you will consider my opinion on this matter. Kind regards, Happy Homeschooler
