Home schooling is exploding for a reason. Most who choose to do so have seen through the marxist agenda and do not wish their children to be indoctrinated. My children are now adults, but I would certainly be home schooling if I had school age children now. The government needs to stay out of people's lives. It is a known fact, that tyranny arrives in the form of benevolence, or inclusivity, or "just being nice" but it is evil. So NO. More government interference is not to be tolerated.
