To the Committee Members, I am 10 yrs old and love being homeschooled. I have been homeschooling for the past 3 yrs. When I was in school, I was always in trouble for not listening. I wasn't trying to be naughty, I was just really distracted by all the other children. Because I got so distracted, I wasn't able to keep up with what the teacher was teaching. She never had time to help me catch up either. I would put my hand up when I was struggling but she never explained the work for long enough for me to understand it properly. I felt like everyone thought I was stupid and naughty. Since I have been homeschooling with my Mum, I am much more focused. We get the work done and if I do have trouble understanding something, we don't move on until I do understand it. I do a lot of learning while in small co-op groups with only a few children. I am very social and love to learn practically, with hands on activities. I work at my own level and pace and I now know that I am very clever in certain areas. I am really good at organizing and prioritizing. I want to be an Event Planner. Please let me continue to learn in a way that suits me best.

Sincerely, Homeschooler
