

Education (General Provisions) and Other Legislation Amendment Bill 2024

Submission No: 1947
Submitted by: Daniel Knight
Publication: Making the submission and your name public
Attachments: See attachment
Submitter Comments:

Good morning.

I am a father 4 children, 3 are currently school age. My wife delivers a well structured home education program that caters to the strengths of each individual child, allowing them to focus on their goals, tackle their learning difficulties and overcome struggles.

I passionately disagree with the proposed amendments listed in the Education (General Provisions) and other Legislation bill due to the following:

The Australian Curriculum;

- Offers no support to individual learning needs and strengths or weaknesses of each child.
- Is purely an outcome based guideline designed to complete check boxes
- According to international ranking (UN), the Australian Curriculum does not fall into the top rated, with a 2024 report listing it at number 8.

Thank you