

Education (General Provisions) and Other Legislation Amendment Bill 2024

Submission No: 2091
Submitted by:
Publication: Making the submission public but withholding your name
Attachments: No attachment
Submitter Comments:

From: [REDACTED]
To: Education, Employment, Training and Skills Committee
Subject: EDUCATION (GENERAL PROVISIONS) AND OTHER LEGISLATION AMENDMENT BILL 2024
Date: Monday, 25 March 2024 8:15:28 AM

Good morning,

This email is regarding the:

EDUCATION (GENERAL PROVISIONS) AND OTHER LEGISLATION AMENDMENT BILL 2024

I have deep concern with the education system and the route the government is taking where the government is ruling using gender identification as irrelevant and moving to gender neutral wording in education.

Children need that form of identification, especially in early learning. They do not understand the world around them and we as parents have the utter most responsibility in framing that world and shaping our children. We have the ultimate say in how that is governed and especially in a homeschooling environment. Part of homeschooling means the parent is now responsible wholly for educating their child the best way they see fit. The government has no need to intervene, especially when it comes to how the child is being taught. The government is now over reaching outside its jurisdiction and now repositioning itself as the parent. Why does the Queensland government feel along with any government the right to overreach into people's homes and dictate like a communist country gender roles and identity that have not only existed for milineas female and male. And remove the very core principles we know as human beings away from our education system.

Australian curriculum has declined, children are more uneducated than ever before due to over crowded classrooms, under qualified teachers and staff as the qualified teachers have all left due to the conflicts the government has placed on them I.e removed all forms of disciplinary actions, forced mandates on them and given them a fortitude of incompetent curriculum that addresses Australia's history as victims with no colonial past or pride in its history as a western country. I myself have migrated to Australia and many do for the generous people and what everyone would say is a better life. Everything down from my primary and high school experiences has never at all dealt with gender issues, gender identity and most importantly issues with identifying themselves. Why is this a necessity? It is a reflection that those in power and authority to make these decisions have been infiltrated by incompetence. How can a nation's decline in education not be at the hands of those who are making these inappropriate and absurd laws and placing them on the next generation. I for the most part choose to homeschool due to the incompetence. My child was behind and the amount of work compared to Asian countries or India for example (a country less economically advanced) are understanding what actual learning and education is while our students decline and are illiterate in Western countries especially. Our education system is failing. And proposing laws that are assimilating absurd ideas and wasting time teaching these absurd ideas about gender fluidity in schools is unnecessary and is proving to confuse young children before they even get a chance to understand that 99.95% of the population identify as female or male. The small percentage that do not are such a minor percentage that in any respect does not merit changing the entire language of our education system to adhere to. This is idiotic to even propose let alone even discuss in a parliamentary setting. But given that we are at this capacity as a government is insulting especially to those who chose to opt out and homeschool and force it down their throats too.

If we simply look at statistics at those with gender confusion it is the vast majority of adolescents being taught this confusing curriculum. They are being groomed by a minority to understand something most people disagree with. Most parents will disagree that this form of curriculum is unnecessary and the government is getting away with implementing these things without public consent or awareness. The more the public knows what the government is doing there will be an uproar. Especially in conservative circles.

I as a member of the public disagree with this Bill in all its entirety and believe it needs to be scrapped. Mixing in this nonsense with other important laws so it flies under the radar is immoral behaviour.

The government needs to be aware that the public do not consent. The homeschooler community do not consent and will not. We are a democracy and we will not accept absurdity in our government.

Warm Regards,

A solid black rectangular box used to redact the sender's name and contact information.