

OPPOSITION TO THE EXTENSION OF EMERGENCY POWERS TO APRIL 2022

As tabled by the Minister for Health, Yvette D'Arth, for a new Bill extending the Public Health Emergency Response measures from 30 September 2021 to 30 April 2022.

Our reason for opposing the Bill's extension includes the following factors:

Covid 19 does not fit the definition of 'Pandemic' given that it does not affect a 'large proportion of the population'. The number of people affected – especially the death rate – is a very small percentage of the population.

There is information concerning the validity of stating Covid 19 as a cause of death. Comorbidity and age range of many 'victims' makes the tally questionable in any case.

It is nonsensical and inherently suspicious that preventative and effective medications have not only been banned, but pressure has been placed on doctors to prevent their availability being made possible in Australia. There is a plethora of experts' reports on their efficacy.

It is outrageous to push for the vaccination of infants and youths. This cohort is the group which is nearly 100% unaffected by Covid 19. Why would you destroy a realistic opportunity of achieving herd immunity? Alarm bells should be ringing regarding the 'real reasons' behind this illogical push.

The overreaching control objective of the government is in direct violation to our individual rights under the Australian Constitution and the Nuremberg Code. No person should be forced to take medication. Your proposed directives are in contravention of reasonable liberty and may not stand up to scrutiny in a Court of Law. Malfeasance (dishonest and illegal behaviour, especially by persons in authority) remains a rightful tool which citizens have at their disposal.

The proposed extension of emergency powers is very disturbing. The Committee must be very thorough, honest, better informed, unbiased, and not coerced by any groups who want to destroy our free society.
