I was at Stockland enjoying my coffee with my headphones in and three teenagers around 14 years old snuck up behind me and stole my purse. I tried running after them but they were too quick. A kind witness ran after them and got my purse back. It's unbelievable how I now feel the need to always be looking over my shoulder and clutching my purse when I'm out. It shouldn't be like this. This type of behaviour needs to be addressed with harsh consequences.
