Question 1

I refer to page 33 of the SDS, for each position that has not been replaced and has been cut in CITEC will the Minister advise the position name, description, remuneration level and location?

ANSWER

A total of 12 positions within CITEC have not been replaced. These positions are the result of staff resignations, contract cessation and one voluntary redundancy. CITEC has determined due to current business needs to not fill these positions.

The details are provided in the table below. Note that these figures are as at 30 June 2014.

Question 2

I refer to page 41 of the SDS, for each of the positions that have been cut in Queensland Shared Services between 2013-14 and 2014-15 will the Minister advise the position name, description, remuneration level and location?

ANSWER

Attached is a list of positions reduced in Queensland Shared Services between 2013-14 and 2014-15.

This reduction is due to a number of factors including:

- the transfer of technology services back to the Department of Education, Training and Employment
- the transfer of some services back to agencies, for example Carepay
- business transformation activities that have been undertaken to increase productivity and automate previously labour intensive processes
- the response to a reduction in demand for services from customers.

Positions were reduced through a combination of natural attrition, redeployment or voluntary redundancies.

Question 3

With reference to page 20 of the SDS; will the Minister please provide a detailed list of all grant recipients in the past financial year and include for each grant payment: the grant program, grant recipient, grant amount, payment date and purpose of the grant?

ANSWER

The Department of Science, Information Technology, Innovation and the Arts provides grant funding through Arts Queensland and Science Development and Innovation. Page 20 of the SDS details all grant and subsidy expenditure over the 2013-14 budget, 2013-14 estimated actuals and 2014-15 budget.

Attachments 1 and 2 provide a full breakdown of all year to date actual grant expenditure for 2013-14 from both Arts Queensland and Science Development and Innovation respectively.

As per previous QoN advice, it should be noted that each grant program may operate in different ways, with some programs being offered on a calendar year basis, whereas others may be on a financial year basis. This will mean that although a calendar year grant program may have the same level of funding from year to year, that the actual grant expenditure paid in each year may vary due to the timing of payments around the end of financial year.

Each grant may also not be given in one single payment. Awarding a grant occurs when an application is deemed successful and a contract is entered into. In some cases, contracts can split funding into several payments according to milestone deliveries, which can mean that the payments of the grant may spread over more than one financial year.

Question 5

With reference to page 20 of the SDS; how much has the Department spent on external contractors in 2013-14, will the Minister provide a list of each of those contracts and report separately for each one the contractor name, cost, purpose and duration; and will the Minister advise how much is budgeted to be spent in 2014-15?

ANSWER

Contractor expenditure for the period 1 July 2013 to 31 May 2014 is approximately $5.300 million (excluding GST). The budget for the 2014-15 financial year is $13.199 million.

The anticipated increase in 2014-15 is mainly attributable to expenditure relating to the implementation of the Government Wireless Network, expenditure relating to the Tactical Cyber Security Plan project together with an anticipated increase in Science related project work during 2014-15.

Details including name, cost, purpose and duration is included on the attached table.

Question No. 6

I refer to page 14 of the SDS, what specific strategies will the Minister implement to ensure that the Digital and Productivity Services Area meets its performance benchmark targets for the 'percentage of clients satisfied with digital economy and productivity services, consultative and engagement processes'?

ANSWER

The Digital Productivity and Services Area will undertake online surveys of industry participants attending consultative and engagement forums such as the Partners in Technology briefings to measure their satisfaction levels.

An overall satisfaction target of 85% has been set for 2014/15.

Question No. 7

With reference to page 13 of the SDS and the Department of Science, Information Technology, Innovation and the Arts' spending on Great Barrier Reef monitoring programs, will the Minister;

- (a) Detail the amount of funding expended by his department in the 2012-13 and 2013-14 financial years under the $175 million contribution to the Reef Water Quality Protection Plan 2009 initiated by the former Labor state and federal governments
- (b) List all projects funded under the plan in the 2012-13 and 2013-14 financial years, the individual cost of each project, its purpose and geographic location
- (c) Provide the number of staff working on projects under the plan in each of the 2012-13 and 2013-14 financial years.
- (d) Detail the amount of funding expected to be expended by his department in 2014-15, 2015-16, 2016-17 and 2017-18 under the Government's $175 million contribution to the Reef Water Quality Protection Plan 2013
- (e) List all projects expected to be funded under the plan, the projected individual cost of each project, its purpose and geographic location
- (f) Provide the number of staff projected to be working on projects under the plan in each of the 2014-15, 2015-16, 2016-17 and 2017-18?

ANSWER

The Reef Plan is coordinated by the Reef Secretariat in the Department of the Premier and Cabinet, with inputs by the Departments of Environment and Heritage Protection; Natural Resources and Mines; and Agriculture, Fisheries and Forestry in collaboration with the Department of Science, Information Technology, Innovation and the Arts (DSITIA).

DSITIA focuses on the delivery of the science activities of the Reef Plan, and primarily supports the Paddock to Reef Program which evaluates the effectiveness of land management actions to improve water quality.

There are seven key projects that DSITIA delivers under the Reef Plan. These projects utilise DSITIA's expertise in catchment water quality monitoring and modelling (projects 1, 2 and 3), and remote sensing science (Project 4).

The outputs of these projects form the basis of the annual Reef Report Card produced by the Department of the Premier and Cabinet. These report cards track progress towards achieving the Reef Plan goals and targets.

Report cards for 2012 and 2013 were released this year. The report cards assess the combined results of all Reef Plan actions up to June 2013.

The final three projects (projects 5, 6 and 7) are DSITIA's further contributions to the Reef Plan.

DSITIA's appropriated funding contribution to these seven activities in 2012-13 was $1.241 million and $1.188 million in 2013-14.*

DSITIA's contribution, supports the Departments of Environment and Heritage Protection; Natural Resources and Mines; Agriculture, Fisheries and Forestry; and Premier and Cabinet to deliver on the Queensland Government's election commitment to maintain the existing $35 million annual budget allocation for Reef initiatives. To this end, DSITIA is maintaining its contributions of technical expertise, modelling and monitoring, and reaffirming the government's commitment to the Great Barrier Reef.

The amount of funding expected to be expended by DSITIA in 2014-15 is $1.215 million, through projects 5, 6 and 7. Projected resources will be determined for 2015-16 and 2016-17 as part of each year's budget development process.

The table at attachment 1 provides the project purpose, geographic location, numbers of staff and the contribution of each project delivered by DSITIA for the Reef Plan.

*The reduction in resources (of approx. $53,000) was related to machinery-of-government arrangements, with a project being taken on by another agency (DNRM).

Question 8

I refer to page 20 of the SDS, and ask the Minister to please outline in detail:

- (a) the Arts grants that were awarded by his department for 2012-2013, 2013-14; and
- (b) the Arts grants to be provided for 2014-15, by organisation name, purpose and amount?

Attachments 1 and 2 provide details of grant recipients.

It should be noted that each grant program may operate in different ways, with some programs being offered on a calendar year basis, whereas others may be on a financial year basis. This will mean that although a calendar year grant program may have the same level of funding from year to year, the actual grant expenditure paid in each year may vary due to the timing of payments around the end of the financial year.

Awarding a grant occurs when an application is deemed successful and a contract is entered into. Contracts can, in some cases, split funding into several payments according to milestone deliveries, which can mean that the payments of the grant may spread over more than one financial year.

Attachment 3 provides a high level breakdown of 2014-15 budgeted grant allocations across the main grant programs and funding provided to date.

Question 10

I refer to page 4 of the SDS, and ask the Minister in relation to the Super Star Fund, outlined in the Arts and Cultural Investment Framework 2013-14, to outline

- (a) how many applications have been received since funding commencement;
- (b) the total amount dispersed to date broken down by each application/artist; and
- (c) the administrative costs associated to run the Super Star Fund?

ANSWER

The Super Star Fund is a $3 million dollar commitment over four years to bring international artists to Queensland, cultivate local talent and build local capacity.

- (a) 30 applications have been received under the Super Star Fund since the Fund opened on 7 December 2012.

- (b) Five Super Star projects have been announced with an investment total of $919,435 approved to assist in the delivery of the following projects in Queensland:

- $120,000 support towards the Queensland Performing Arts Centre's presentation of Clancestry, A Celebration of Country with Super Star artist Bernard Fanning
- $139,435 in support of the Queensland Theatre Company and Grin and Tonic Theatre Troupe's presentation of Macbeth directed by Super Star artist Michael Attenborough CBE
- $300,000 to support the Queensland Ballet in delivering the acclaimed full length ballet, Romeo & Juliet by the late Sir Kenneth Macmillian, with Super Star artists Carlos Acosta and Tamara Rojo
- $300,000 towards the Queensland Symphony Orchestra's Australian premiere of Journey Through the Cosmos, co-

commissioned with the BBC and with Super Star artist Professor Brian Cox

- $60,000 towards Brisbane Festival for Super Star artist Akram Khan and his solo production DESH as part of the 2014 festival.
- (c) The administrative costs associated in delivering the Super Star Fund for 2013-14 were $94,000. Fund administration includes independent assessment of each application following the two-stage process and contract management of approved recipients. No new staff were hired; the fund is managed within existing funding and FTE resources.

Question 11

I refer to page 5 of the SDS where it mentions the Cultural Precinct Strategy. Can the Minister explain how the Cultural Precinct Strategy is contributing to Arts for All Queenslanders and delivering on the government's tourism target of doubling overnight visitor expenditure from $15 billion to $30 billion?

ANSWER

During 2013/2014, the Cultural Precinct partners delivered a year of innovative programming appealing to the growing cultural tourist market, with a total of 4.7 million visits to the Precinct. This result is a testament to the Precinct's coordinated program of internationally-recognised, high-quality arts and cultural experiences.

The hugely successful Cai Guo-Qiang: Falling Back to Earth exhibition at the Gallery of Modern Art (GOMA) attracted more than 200,000 visitors. This exhibition has set new benchmarks to achieve the second highest attendance rate ever achieved at GOMA.

The California Design 1930-1965: Living in a Modern Way exhibit presented over 250 pre-and post-war Californian objects to almost 60,000 attendees between 2 November 2013 and 4 February 2014.

Queensland Museum's exhibition Afghanistan: Hidden Treasures from the National Museum, Kabul, ran from 5 September 2013 to 27 January 2014 attracting 48,000 attendees.

And the State Library's presentation of Our Dreaming – animating country – a series of exhibitions, workshops and events to showcase Queensland's vibrant Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander stories through animation along with the Queensland

Performing Arts Company's presentation of The Netherlands Royal Concertgebouw Orchestra and the National Theatre Great Britain's production of Warhorse demonstrated the diversity of offering that is driving visitation to the precinct and helping to deliver on this government's tourism target of doubling overnight visitor expenditure from $15 billion to $30 billion.

Our major performing arts companies have played a leading role in contributing to this success, with the Queensland Ballet's sold out season of The Nutcracker from 5 to 21 December 2013 and the Queensland Theatre Company's production of Macbeth, directed by the internationally acclaimed Michael Attenborough CBE providing for the Queensland Theatre Company's most successful production in 21 years, with attendance of more than 17,000.

Furthermore, Queensland Ballet's Australian premiere of Sir Kenneth MacMillan's iconic Romeo and Juliet, broke a 54-year box office record exceeding $1.1 million in box office takings. Five of the eight performances were sold out and was seen by over 15,500 people.

Development of an evaluation framework for the Cultural Precinct is underway which will provide greater understanding of achievements and insights the achievement of tourism outcomes, which will inform future programming.

The Cultural Precinct Master Plan considers the development of more opportunities in balance with art and culture, expanding the appeal for even greater returns from tourism. Public consultation on the Plan has recently closed.

In addition to these successful programs, the Cultural Precinct is set to continue its success in the near future with upcoming features including the Australian debut and Queensland exclusive of American Ballet Theatre as part of the QPAC International Series, the Lion King commencing in September and the London Symphony Orchestra touring in November.

Question No. 12

I refer to page 17 of the SDS. Can the Minister outline what Screen Queensland is doing to boost domestic and international production in Queensland and grow the Queensland film sector?

ANSWER

CEO/ BOARD / 3 YEAR STRATEGIC PLAN

Screen Queensland's recently appointed Chief Executive Officer, Ms Tracey Vieira, has returned to Queensland after nine and a half years in Los Angeles working with Ausfilm where she played a key role in attracting over half a billion dollars in production investment to Australian shores.

Ms Vieira is extremely well connected with film producers on the domestic front and will also increase the dialogue with major US studios and other international and interstate partners to attract production, boost Queensland Production Expenditure and to sustain and build Queensland infrastructure to grow both off-shore and local productions.

Screen Queensland's board, Ms Vieira and her team are unreservedly focused on the successful implementation of Screen Queensland's three-year strategic plan and its overriding objective to boost the attractiveness and competitiveness of Queensland as a premier location for screen production, generate Queensland Production Expenditure, increase skills and job opportunities, and create economic and cultural benefits statewide.

Over the last 12 months, Screen Queensland has revitalised the Queensland's screen industry with back-to-back film production activity cementing Queensland's reputation as a premier destination for screen production. Over 21 productions occurred in Queensland over the last financial year, double the number of productions on previous year figures.

In 2013-14, domestic and international screen production in Queensland generated an estimated $94 million in Queensland Production Expenditure – an increase of $61 million on 2012-13. The total economic activity of these productions is projected to have an estimated worth of $165 million to the Queensland economy – an increase of $107 million compared with the previous year.

PRODUCTION INCENTIVES

Screen Queensland administers production incentives to attract interstate and international productions to Queensland and secure investment from inside and outside state borders. Production Incentives are provided to productions that demonstrate a minimum $3.5 million Queensland Production Expenditure and provide professional development opportunities for Queensland practitioners and/or the creation of infrastructure in Queensland. In June 2013 the Screen Queensland board reduced the eligibility threshold from $15 million to $3.5 million to help stimulate production and economic activity.

Screen Queensland has approved $4.7 million in financial incentives for the 2013-14 year, which has led to over $71.2 million of production expenditure in Queensland. This is estimated to create economic activity of $125 million across metropolitan and regional Queensland.

A significant attraction for production in Queensland is our State Payroll Tax Rebate which enhances our attractiveness as production location in the competitive film marketplace.

Screen Queensland has also made the $20 million revolving film financing fund provided to Queensland productions to meet their cash-flow needs more competitive, by charging interest at half the Bank Bill Swap Rate quoted by the Queensland Theatre Company on the day of draw down.

INTERNATIONAL PRODUCTIONS

In 2013-14 there were three international productions in Queensland creating $52 million in Queensland Production Expenditure. This is an increase from zero off-shore dollars in 2012-13. This is an outstanding result against the backdrop of a high Australian dollar and aggressive interstate and international competition.

This is highlighted by the success of international productions such as the Hollywood blockbuster San Andreas; Unbroken – directed and produced by Academy Award-winner, Angelina Jolie; and Modern Family.

These international productions create significant benefits throughout the state injecting millions of ‘new’ dollars into the Queensland economy. This creates thousands of jobs; for example, San Andreas employed more than 3000 Queenslanders during its shoot. These productions also enable the retention and up-skilling of crew as well as utilising and upgrading existing facilities. This of course creates benefits for the local industry. International productions stimulate film-induced tourism, supporting the four pillar economy objectives.

The global hit television series Modern Family filmed in the Whitsundays earlier this year and was attracted to our state through Screen Queensland’s Production Incentive Program. This episode will eventually reach a global audience of 125 million people.

International productions also create impacts across other sectors of the economy. Employment and expenditure is created through purchasing goods and services from Queensland suppliers, such as transportation, accommodation, retail and entertainment providers and is a major benefit to Queensland.

DOMESTIC PRODUCTIONS

Domestic production has increased from $33 million in 2012-13 to $42 million in 2013-14 – an increase of 27 per cent. These 18 domestic productions created an estimated total economic activity of $74 million to Queensland.

Productions include Mystery Road, filmed in Winton, and children’s production Mako Mermaids – Island of Secrets (Series 2) by Queensland producer Jonathan M Shiff shooting at Village Roadshow Studios and creating 500 jobs. It has an estimated Queensland Production Expenditure of $10 million.

Multi-platform content specialists Hoodlum produced Secrets & Lies and has successfully sold its format to the ABC network in the United States. Commencing next month, is Big Brother, which will create over 300 jobs on the Gold Coast.

Television will be a major focus of Screen Queensland as it is the cornerstone of consistent production and provides ongoing employment and training opportunities for local crew.

Screen Queensland is also focusing on fostering strong international networks with key co-production and co-financing partners in North America, Europe and Asia. As an example, the successful Australian/British co-production, The Railway Man, generated $5.5 million in expenditure and 151 jobs for Queensland cast and crew.

ENTERPRISE PROGRAM

The introduction of the Queensland Enterprise Funding Program in 2014-15 year will attract increased levels of private investment and marketplace attachments and attract new, interstate and international production. This will grow the sector, create employment, create an innovative competitive edge for Queensland and develop long-term sustainability and economic growth for the screen sector. Grants of up to a maximum of $150,000 per annum over a two year period will be available for qualifying companies.

EMERGING PROGRAM

The Queensland Government recognises the fast-changing landscape of the screen sector and the need for our emerging practitioners to adapt and innovate in order to grow the Queensland film sector. Screen Queensland has identified an immediate need to reinvigorate educational programs to build better career pathways for our emerging screen sector. It has accordingly renewed its Emerging Screen Sector program with a diverse range of new and innovative programs.

This revitalised emerging program is timely and will assist long term sustainability for the sector with an increased focus on multiplatform and digital storytelling plus screen writing and regional and Indigenous emerging screen practitioners.

In 2014-15, $440,000 will be allocated to the Emerging Screen Sector program comprising $240,000 from Screen Queensland and $200,000 from Screen Australia (carried over from the 2013-14 financial year).

Question No. 13

I refer to pages 4 and 5 of the SDS. Can the Minister outline how the government is achieving the vision of Arts for all Queenslanders Strategy through the Playing Queensland touring fund?

ANSWER

The Playing Queensland Fund delivers tangibly on the Arts for all Queenslanders strategy by increasing the return on arts and cultural investment through delivering high quality, arts experiences throughout the state.

This government stated it wanted to double the number of productions travelling the state and supported this vision with the Playing Queensland Fund – Boost to Touring which delivers $10.6 million over four years (2013-16).

Outcomes include:

More tours: an increase in the number of regional tours – from 19 in 2011 to 42 in 2013.

More touring activities: an increase in the touring activities (performances, concerts, workshops, community engagement opportunities) from 180 in 2011 to 617 in 2013.

More communities: an increase in the number of different regional Queensland communities receiving touring productions from 74 communities in 2011 to 113 communities in 2013.

More audiences: an increase in the number of Queenslanders enjoying the diverse touring offerings from 29,187 in 2011 to 103,457 in 2013.

Growing public value of arts and culture by ensuring Queenslanders have a say in what they would like to see through a competitive, rigorous and demand driven framework.

The Playing Queensland Fund allows the best possible tours to receive public investment – those that have the greatest public, social, artistic and economic value for the communities of Queensland.

Question No. 14

I refer to page 4 of the SDS, where it mentions the Government's One-Stop Shop Plan 2013-18 and its vision to provide Queenslanders with easy and convenient access to all government services. Can the Minister advise how Queenslanders have been embracing the Queensland Government's new online services?

ANSWER

The One-Stop Shop commitment is about making Queensland Government services simpler, clearer and faster for Queenslanders. Last November, the Queensland Government released the One-Stop Shop Plan 2013-14 which committed to delivering all general public service information and 100 new transaction services online by the end of 2014. We will also add another 100 new transaction services by the end of 2015.

I am pleased to announce that we have already delivered the first 100 new transactions six months ahead of schedule.

Queenslanders can now access and complete services online including: applying for a bond loan or rental grant; registering a party with the Queensland Police Service; notifying of a fireworks display; applying for a road closure; renewing a driver's licence online; checking vehicle registrations; and purchasing historical birth, death or marriage certificates.

Customers are benefitting from the new online services and enjoying the convenience of accessing services when and where they prefer. This contributes to the government's election promise to revitalise front-line services for Queenslanders. A full list of online services is available at www.qld.gov.au/onestopshop.

More and more of our customers are clearly moving to the online service delivery channel with more than 13,000,000 visits to www.qld.gov.au since June 2013. While there has been an increase in take-up across the state, some areas have seen astonishing growth. For example, Fraser Coast residents have embraced the Queensland Government's online services with unique visits to www.qld.gov.au from the region growing by more than 800 per cent. In fact, regional Queenslanders are the fastest growing audience for government services online with average visitation across the state growing by 500 per cent compared to 90 per cent growth for Brisbane.

Some of the most popular new transactions services across the state include:

- drivers licence renewals (over 165,000 unique visits)
- National Rental Affordability Scheme Eligibility Check (over 47,000 unique visits)
- apply for an unregistered vehicle permit (over 32,000 unique visits)
- book a first aid course (over 9,500 unique visits).

Many customers told us that they would like to do more online but would like someone to help them get started. We are now providing this in three ways – through social media, Click to Chat and also in our new service outlets, where customers can get personal help to access services and transact online. We've been trialling these new service delivery channels to assess customer demand.

Many customers have embraced the AskQGOV social media pilot with more than 7,000 likes on the AskQGOV Facebook page. This facility allows customers to easily get help and advice on a broad range of services.

Customers have also been able to access some real, live online help to get started online through Click to Chat with over 200 requests during the three month pilot. Later this year, we will also be trialling new options such as the use of video pods and self-service kiosks to afford our customers increased access to services online as part of the implementation of the Lockyer Valley and Scenic Rim service outlet pilots.

This transformation in service delivery will continue as we test and deploy other technologies to enable easy and convenient access to all Queensland Government services. By the end of 2014, customers will also be able to use one log-in and password to access a range of online services in the same way as they currently do with digital banking. By the end of 2015, those customers will also be able to provide their proof of identity once only – not time and time again – when they want to apply for different services or licences. This will enable the Queensland Government to deliver real improvements in efficiency and red tape reduction to businesses and residents.

Question No. 15

I refer to page 5 of the SDS, where it mentions the Government's Queensland Digital Economy Strategy and Action Plan. Can the Minister outline what the Government is doing to achieve the vision for Queensland to be Australia's most digitally interactive state?

ANSWER

I was pleased to launch GoDigitalQld, the Queensland Digital Economy Strategy and Action Plan in Bundaberg on 17 June 2014.

GoDigitalQld is this government's roadmap to using digital technologies, content and innovative services to boost productivity and connectivity in Queensland.

Importantly, GoDigitalQld brings together the government's key digital economy related initiatives beneath an overarching framework for driving and coordinating digital economy activity across government and across our vast state.

GoDigitalQld will complement The Queensland Plan vision to capture future opportunities through innovation including encouraging greater uptake by Queenslanders of digital technologies and skills.

GoDigitalQld sets six clear strategic objectives and includes 23 main actions (there are also 50 sub-actions) to put us on the path to realise our vision for Queensland to be Australia's most digitally interactive state and recognised globally as a digital innovation hub.

These six strategic objectives are:

- economic growth powered by digital innovation
- 'digital first' delivery of better government services

- full community and business participation in the digital economy through collaboration
- creating the conditions in which Queensland businesses can innovate and thrive in the digital economy
- attracting, growing and retaining talent into Queensland's digital sector and research institutions
- attracting investment and global partnerships to grow Queensland's digital economy.

To achieve our vision, this government recognises that we have a vital role to play in setting the conditions for business to start-up and flourish and be early adopters of digital technologies, content and services.

Indeed, GoDigitalQld contains actions that will seek to reduce administrative and regulatory barriers to provide Queensland businesses and industry, particularly small to medium businesses, with the best conditions to compete in an increasingly global, digital marketplace.

We also recognise we have a role to play in ensuring that Queenslanders can participate in the digital economy, without being disadvantaged by their location.

One of the most significant actions is to develop a Digital Government Framework to guide Queensland Government agencies to embrace a 'digital first' approach (but not 'digital only') to the future design and delivery of their programs and services.

Further, there are practical actions to address the core digital needs of rural and remote communities and help disadvantaged Queenslanders to gain knowledge, join in and enjoy the benefits of the digital age.

At the global level, GoDigitalQld identifies a number of actions that have been specifically designed to attract new investment to Queensland and build our global reputation as a digital innovation hub. These actions are to:

- Increase digital entrepreneurship and startups in Queensland through stronger collaboration between education, business, investor and government sectors.

- Develop a 'Why Queensland for Digital Investment' prospectus to attract new investment and venture capital into Queensland.
- Engage with the Australian Government to achieve policy and regulation outcomes that stimulate high growth potential digital startups in Queensland.
- Support the establishment of Australia's first Chair in Digital Economics at a university in Queensland.
- Attract new investment into Queensland's digital sector through coordinated effort between local industry, universities, regional development and government organisations.
- Continue to support the digitalcareers group to deliver the Digital Careers Program and I Choose Technology website activities in Queensland to get more of our young Queenslanders choosing digital-related careers.

GoDigitalQld is built on actions that encourage greater collaboration, partnering and sharing of limited resources between all levels of government, non-government organisations and the education, business and digital sectors.

Specifically, we will work with the Australian Government to address our telecommunications infrastructure gaps, particularly in rural and remote Queensland, and leverage Queensland's fair share of Commonwealth funding for digital infrastructure. Significant progress has already been made in identifying Queensland's mobile coverage blackspots and agreed areas for future collaboration between both levels of government.

To ensure we remain on track to deliver this key government strategy and action plan, my department will coordinate the implementation and annual review of GoDigitalQld in collaboration with other agencies and key non-government partners.

Question No.16

I refer to page 5 of the SDS, where it mentions the Government Wireless Network. Can the Minister highlight some of the network's benefits for our frontline emergency services?

ANSWER

The Government Wireless Network's equipment, infrastructure and cutting edge technology brings the radio communications capabilities of our public safety agencies into the digital age.

Police, fire and ambulance services will be able to communicate on the same radio communications platform and frequency, improving emergency response coordination. This is the first time they will be connected together on the same network.

The network will provide improved network reliability and coverage. It has impressive noise cancelling and speech clarity features which filter background noise to help ensure every word is heard during transmission – vital when responding in an emergency situation.

The network will also give our frontline officers access to multi-agency talk groups and GPS-enabled duress alarms, making sure the personal safety of our police and emergency services personnel is not compromised.

Importantly, the new technology will provide end-to-end encryption, protecting against the interception of transmissions – a vital tool against the ever increasing threats to information security.

Queensland's public safety agencies have been waiting for a digital radio communications network for more than 10 years.

By June 2016, more than 17,500 frontline police and emergency services staff will be using the network.

Question No.17

I refer to page 5 of the SDS where it mentions the Queensland Government's ICT renewal agenda. Can the Minister highlight some of his portfolios achievements in this area?

ANSWER

The Department of Science, Information Technology, Innovation and the Arts remains committed to reform and to achieving the Queensland Government's vision of a modern ICT environment that is supported by a capable, competent workforce.

The progress made to date and the deliverables produced provide a foundation that will enable government agencies to progress their own ICT reform. For example, transitioning to ICT as-a-service is made easier through the introduction of policies, guidelines and strategies, common commercial terms and conditions and access to service panels.

Furthermore, progress has led to:

- clearer accountability and processes to ensure successful ICT investment decision-making and appropriate risk management through the Procurement and ICT Directors-General Council governance body
- mechanisms for small to medium enterprises to actively participate in contracting government business
- an enterprise social network that can be leveraged for collaborative and idea sharing amongst government communities
- a workforce planning framework to deliver improved outcomes from workforce transformation activities
- improvements to the open data portal to create further opportunities for the community
- an arrangement supporting departments to source and/or develop critical skills through a university network

- greater transparency of significant government initiatives through a public-facing ICT dashboard
- new tools to support the practical application of the contestability framework to ensure the best value for money and ICT service delivery models for agencies.

Question No. 18

I refer to page 5 of the SDS, where the Government has committed to commence construction of the Australian Institute of Tropical Health and Medicine. Please outline the benefits you expect to flow from this investment for regional Queensland and the State more broadly.

ANSWER

The Queensland Government has committed $42.12 million to establish the Australian Institute of Tropical Health and Medicine (AITHM) in conjunction with James Cook University. The Institute will be established in three locations in Tropical North Queensland – Townsville, Cairns and Thursday Island.

$34.32 million will be used to construct infrastructure across the three nodes:

- $21.49 million for Townsville
- $6.5 million for Cairns
- $6.33 million for Thursday Island
- $7.8 million used to support operational and research activities.

The Australian Government has committed an additional $42 million over four years toward the Institute, reflecting the importance of this initiative in terms of the health outcomes for northern Australia. This translates into an $84 million plus investment in Far North and North Queensland for tropical disease research to improve the health of people living in the tropics.

The Queensland Government investment will not only create research jobs but construction work across Townsville, Cairns and Thursday Island. Initial research activity will focus on:

- current threats including Q fever, melioidosis, streptococcal infections and severe bacterial sepsis, dengue fever, malaria and tuberculosis

- strengthening Queensland's tropical health defences and increasing the ability to combat biosecurity risks
- training health workers, particularly in relation to disease surveillance, control and risk identification
- building an integrated health security network focused on significant biosecurity threats.

Additionally, the research and training undertaken at this Institute will deliver significant outcomes for Queensland including:

- improving the health and welfare of Queenslanders through the development of improved practices for the monitoring and treatment of tropical disease
- protecting Queenslanders, and visitors to Queensland, from the transmission and impact of endemic infectious diseases
- attracting and retaining quality researchers in the field of tropical health and medicine to Queensland
- attracting investment to Queensland through the innovative research projects that will be undertaken in the Institute.

In Townsville, AITHM will involve a construction project valued at approximately $31 million to establish the AITHM Building and Translational Research Facility. Planning for the Townsville infrastructure is well advanced with completion scheduled for 2016.

In Cairns the funding will support the construction of a tropical health research and training facility to support research activity and the training of public health and disease control workers for regional Australia.

On Thursday Island the funding will support the construction of a research and training facility to train local workers to collect data and samples from tropical disease patients.

Planning for the Cairns and Thursday Island infrastructure has commenced, with sites on Thursday Island being investigated with the local community.

Question 19

I refer to page 4 of the SDS. What has the Government done to maximise the strategic opportunities for investment in Queensland science to ensure research is targeting issues of priority to Queensland? Please provide some examples of scientific breakthroughs that show Queensland is doing world class scientific research.

ANSWER

Despite our tight fiscal environment, the government is making judicious investments to maintain Queensland's momentum in generating and encouraging great science.

The Science and Innovation Action Plan (SIAP) was launched in October 2013 to deliver a unified government approach to science and innovation. The vision for Queensland is "turning great ideas into great opportunities" and SIAP continues this government's great investment in science. It also encourages collaboration between researchers.

The SIAP puts forward four investment decision rules (R.E.D.S.) to support better assessment and targeted investment in science and research. Our investment decision rules will ensure:

- Real Future Impact to increase tangible positive impact for the state
- External Commitment so that the necessary research partners and end users are engaged
- A Distinctive Angle to help define what is in it for Queensland and why we are investing here, and
- that we are Scaling Towards Critical Mass to ensure we are making a real and effective contribution both to R&D and industry capacity.

The SIAP also defines ten science and research priorities to ensure investments are focused on well-defined areas and reflect Queensland's identified needs. In summary, the Science and Research Priorities relate to:

- enhanced production technologies, tools and practices to help grow productivity in the four pillars;
- attracting and retaining science and research talent and encouraging research-focussed mobility and effective translation between industry, universities and government;
- protecting our biodiversity;
- cleaner and renewable energy technologies;
- sustainability of our physical and digital research infrastructure;
- building resilience, in managing climate risk;
- detection, treatment and prevention of age-related and Queensland dominant diseases;
- health data management and services delivery;
- sustainable water-use and security;
- development and application of digitally-enabled technologies.

Key SIAP investment measures include:

- $8.75 million for the Accelerate Queensland Science and Innovation Program which focuses on collaboration, industry engagement, and practical research in areas of priority for Queensland, such as the four pillars.
- $500,000 for the Queensland-Chinese Academy of Sciences Fund, under which the two successful applicants are collaborating with Chinese partners to design bone grafts for the regeneration of skeletal tissue, and developing low glycaemic index sugar from sorghum.
- $42.12 million for the Australian Institute of Tropical Health and Medicine, which has attracted a further $42 million from the Australian Government.
- $9 million for the Clem Jones Centre for Ageing Dementia Research, which has attracted a further $9 million from the Australian Government.

The government is also investing $300,000 per annum into the Medical Research Commercialisation Fund to help accelerate the commercialisation of new medical breakthroughs and technologies developed by Queensland's research community.

Researchers at Q-Sera, a joint University of Queensland and Queensland Health start up, have used this fund to create lifesaving technology that utilises the venom of Queensland's Coastal Taipan to develop blood-clotting technology for use in blood collection tubes. This means that we can test blood faster and more accurately. The technology is a uniquely Queensland innovation and will mean more lives saved.

The Institute for Molecular Bioscience has created a genetic atlas of pancreatic cancers, that will facilitate personalised treatment by taking the guesswork out of chemotherapy. This is Queensland's contribution to the International Cancer Genome Consortium, a global cancer research effort, addressing the 50 most common types of cancer.

The government is also building on the tremendous potential represented by the Translational Research Institute and its co-located biopharmaceutical manufacturing facility by providing grant funding to boost research outcomes. The Translational Research Institute complex enables the discovery, production, clinical testing and manufacture of new drugs and vaccines – delivering better health outcomes – at the one location.

Plus, Biopharmaceuticals Australia (Network) Pty Ltd, a wholly owned Queensland Government company, is providing up to $2 million in access support grants under the Biopharmaceuticals Development Fund. This funding will assist eligible entities to access this world-class drug manufacturing facility and support companies with early-stage medical drug prospects to accelerate their commercial translation.

In recent months, have drawn attention to a wide range of other world-class scientific breakthroughs and achievements, including:

- Researchers at James Cook University are achieving great results in preventing the transmission of dengue fever by introducing bacteria that block the virus in mosquito populations in prime dengue areas.

- QIMR Berghofer scientists have discovered that an existing arthritis drug can help treat asthma.
- Researchers at the Translational Research Institute have discovered a way to provide a six-fold boost to immune recovery after chemotherapy cancer treatments.
- The University of Queensland's School of Information Technology and Electrical Engineering has developed new cutting edge laser technology that will revolutionise the detection and treatment of skin cancer.

Queensland science is thriving under this government and the building blocks are in place to keep turning great Queensland ideas into great Queensland opportunities.

Question 20

I refer to page 4 of the SDS. Will the Minister please outline to the Committee the status of the Science and Innovation Action Plan, the role of the Science and Innovation Advisory Council and what has been achieved, including under the $8.75 million funding mentioned on page 5 of the SDS?

ANSWER

The Government is using science, research and innovation to promote economic growth and opportunity in Queensland.

The importance of science and innovation to our state's future is undeniable. It allows us to build on the strong foundations we have in world class scientific infrastructure and world class talent to make breakthroughs and deliver outcomes that will benefit all Queenslanders.

The Science and Innovation Action Plan (SIAP) and Investment Framework sets out the Government's strategy for investing in science and innovation.

The government is delivering 54 actions in the four key areas of the Science and Innovation Action Plan:

- Maintain momentum
 - grow, attract and retain talented people
- Collaborate and share knowledge
 - meaningful partnerships with global leaders in research and industry/end users
- Help businesses grow
 - remove barriers and facilitate the growth of small and high growth businesses
- Deliver innovative government.
 - Use innovation to achieve improved government service delivery

The Department of State Development, Infrastructure and Planning has completed its SIAP action to deliver its State Planning Policy, which was released on 2 December 2013.

The remaining 53 actions are all progressing on schedule and will all provide tangible benefits to Queensland.

For example, under the SIAP Investment Framework, the Queensland Government has committed up to $8.75 million for the Accelerate Program. The program includes:

- $4.25 million in Accelerate Partnerships to support collaborative science and research projects with an emphasis on translating research into outcomes
- $3 million in Accelerate Fellowships to support the development of early and mid-career researchers to undertake practical and applied research
- $1.5 million in Accelerate Ideas to assist collaborations between researchers and industry that demonstrate the commercial viability of new or existing ideas.

The first round of the Accelerate Partnerships and Fellowships programs closed in April 2014. These programs have been strongly supported by Queensland's research sector.

In total, there were 96 Accelerate Partnerships applications and 103 Accelerate Fellowships applications. I am pleased to advise that the successful applicants to these programs have been approved and they will be notified shortly.

The Accelerate Ideas program opened on 23 June 2014 with the first round of applications closing on 31 August 2014. The program will help speed up the commercialisation of innovative ideas into the market place.

I have also established a Science and Innovation Advisory Council to provide independent guidance and investment advice, and review progress against the SIAP's priorities.

The council is chaired by the Queensland Chief Scientist, and includes a range of experienced researchers, innovators and executives such as: Professor Ian Frazer, Chief Executive Officer of the Translational Research Institute; Mr Stephen Tait, Chief Executive Officer of the Chamber of Commerce and Industry Queensland; and Mr Nigel Spork, Managing Director of Centor.

The council has met twice, most recently on 16 June to review the outcomes of the selection processes for the Accelerate Partnerships and Accelerate Fellowships programs.

My department will coordinate a SIAP review, with input from the council, 12 months after its launch to ensure the goals and actions remain relevant, and enable outcomes of The Queensland Plan to be considered and incorporated where appropriate.

My department has also made good progress in driving innovation and commercialisation in Queensland. Since the launch of SIAP:

- QMI Solutions has delivered 33 workshops, events and webinars, provided over 100 hours of information to Queensland inventors, and the Innovation Toolbox website has had over 20,000 visits.
- A pilot program to provide public sector work experience for 13 PhD students has been launched.
- The Innovation Hub Pilot Program was launched, releasing four Queensland Government challenges to the market to harness the expertise of the private sector to identify innovative solutions. The challenges will address best practice beef production, improving Indigenous health, targeting graffiti, and maintaining social housing assets.
- Intellectual Property modules were provided online to government staff to build skills, assist government to manage its Intellectual Property and, where suitable, take ideas to market.
- The Department of Science, Information Technology, Innovation and the Arts hosted a Startup Summit which brought together entrepreneurs, investors and service providers to increase the success rate of startups in Queensland.
- The Government continues to provide early stage high growth potential businesses with access to incubator services at ilab and the Innovation Centre Sunshine Coast.
- Our One Stop Shop initiative is delivering faster and easier access to Queensland Government services and information.
- We have committed $9 million to help establish the Clem Jones Centre for Ageing Dementia Research to develop new therapies to achieve better outcomes for Queensland dementia patients.

- Additionally, this Government committed $42.12 million to construct the Australian Institute of Tropical Health and Medicine at James Cook University to help strengthen Queensland's tropical health defences.
- The Government has also been working to cement key strategic international research alliances by providing $500,000 over 2 years to support joint research projects between Queensland researchers and the Chinese Academy of Sciences.
- In June, I announced two joint research projects that each received $125,000 from the Queensland Government, which was matched by the Chinese Academy of Sciences; and
- we are making the Government's scientific datasets publically available, with 52 science data sets already available through the open data portal.

Overall positive progress has been made in supporting science and innovation in Queensland.
