

Free Public Seminar

'Using energy more efficiently at home and in business to save money'

The Environment and Resources Committee of the Queensland Parliament is holding a free public seminar about energy efficiency.

- find out about energy efficiency opportunities at home, for industry, businesses, communities and government agencies
- learn from others who are already doing it and saving money
- share ideas for energy efficiency improvements with members of the Queensland Parliament's Environment and Resources Committee

Venue: Parliament House, George Street, Brisbane

Date: Friday 7 August 2009

Public displays: From 9.00 am (Parliamentary Foyer)
- energy efficiency programs, products and services

Program Seminar:

9.45 am – 10.00 am	Welcome and Open
10.00 am – 10.30 am	Session 1 - Energy efficiency – what is it and what are the costs and benefits?
10.30 am – 11.30 am	Session 2 - Energy efficiency case studies – saving money and the environment through energy efficiency improvements
12.00 noon – 1.00 pm	Panel Session - Barriers to energy efficiency improvements: 'What new policy ideas or changes are needed to make energy efficiency improvements more attractive and more accessible?'

Light refreshments will be provided

Places are strictly limited. To register please call:

Environment and Resources Committee Secretariat 1800 504 022 (for the cost of a local call), 3406 7908 or email erc@parliament.qld.gov.au

For further information about the Environment and Resources Committee and their work on energy efficiency improvements, please contact the committee's secretariat at Parliament House or visit their website:
<http://www.parliament.qld.gov.au/erc>

Environment and Resources Committee

