To Whom This May Concern

[REDACTED]

I wish to make known my real concern for the plan to pass an abortion bill by the Qld government. What kind of people are we becoming? What kind of society are we building? It's one thing to board any train in the station, but another to know where it is going. One only has to read just a little about what a foetus is capable of to know it is just not a blob of tissue. Granted, there may be rare occasions where abortion may need to be considered but the vast majority of abortions are not because of these considerations.

It is amazing to me that 'it is okay to kill human foetuses but it is not okay to kill pests such as bats, crocodiles, dingoes etc – just amazing.

I wish to make known my extreme concern about this matter. Below are two links which explain how I see it.
