[Redacted] Objections to proposed abortion laws.

To the Queensland health committee.

I am writing to employ you to vote down the Termination of pregnancy bill 2018. The bill is lacking detail and it seems that a babies life can be terminated even at birth (over 22 weeks)

How can it be acceptable to terminate a life, at any stage up to birth, for any reason, including choosing gender.

When legalising abortion was first being discussed, the possibility of designer babies was rejected by those calling for abortion. If this bill is passed we will be one step closer to designer babies.

We are proud parents of a 32 yearold daughter who has Downs Syndrome, a chromosome disorder that is easily identified in the womb. The fear of having a baby with Downs Syndrome is one of the reasons those lobbying for easy abortion give in their argument. I find it hard to believe that modern society has become so self absorbed that we would provide legislation which will allows the termination of babies that don't suit our lifestyle.

Our daughter has been a joy to our families, our community, our sporting clubs and our lives.

Please don't allow a bill to pass that will simplify the termination of lives like Joselyn's.

Yours sincerely,

Justin Evans.
