

Dear Sir/Madam,

At a time when we are learning of the immeasurable harm done to women's health through abortions, both physically and psychologically, and of the revelations of the horrific side of the abortion industry emerging from the United States, eg. the selling of baby body parts, the killing of born babies whose abortions have failed, the deaths of mothers during abortions, the rank commercialism driving the change of procedure in the way foetuses are killed, purely for monetary gain, and of the growing awareness that foetuses in the womb do endure intense pain as they are killed, I am surprised how anyone could be so callous as to propose the Termination of Pregnancy Act 2018.

I wish to record my opposition to this Bill in the strongest terms. Even as a legal document, it is incredibly sloppy, possibly deliberately so, allowing for a wide range of ways it could be interpreted, granting the maximum wriggle room for the abortion industry. This Bill needs to be squashed.

Yours Sincerely

Peter Lanzon.
