Is it okay in Queensland to fine hard working citizens over $28000 for killing a crocodile yet taxpayers are asked to fund the abortion of a foetus, to any woman who chooses to do so ?
When does a foetus become a baby, when does a baby become a child and when does a child become a teenager and when does a teenager become an adult ?

Despite the answers the when will never change the who, because the humanity of the child never changes.

The world requires absolutes for its homes and Institutions to be built, for without the engineering formulas the buildings will crumble.

Yet for our social lives we avoid absolutes, manipulating language and circumstance to avoid accountability and responsibility.

Truth is not changed by time, nor by opinion, just as the building formulas remain absolute, otherwise the building, whether it be bricks or flesh will crumble.

Moral law is accused of being exclusive, yet the decision by a mother to terminate the life of her foetus, excludes that very life.

Does the life of our most vulnerable now depend upon inconvenience ?

Kind regards,
