I am a hybrid Aussie / Filipina and migrated in 1980. Not the life I dream of however, my Catholic faith has pulled me through. I have been doing volunteer work in addressing issues in the prevention of domestic violence and mental health awareness. I operated an NGO for about seven years. That is in promoting spiritual theology and psychology for integral development

I have fully practiced my Catholic faith with an epiphany experience and got slain by the Holy Spirit in 1980. Then, I understood myself better and how to be a more useful citizen and God's love for me to share it to mankind.

It seems that Australia is losing its drift that politicians elected want anything goes according to their intellect not according to what the heart dictates. That is, compassion is not exercised in all undertakings dealing with social issues.

I strongly oppose the Jackie Trad's Abortion Bill which seems a woman who does not have fear of the Lord. [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] I never had a child and will not endorse any form of abortion.

The gentlemen in the Parliament must be opposed to this bill as this is a degradation of a man's dignity. God's wrath will be on Australia is this evil Bill goes through.

May you all be discerning,

Celia Camara
