Dear sir/madam,

I sincerely want to emphasize that I am very concerned about this new bill currently being researched.

In its current state it will enable people with no empathy to misuse it for financial gain at the cost of the health of countless expecting women and unborn babies.

There is such a large need for babies to be adopted by countless couples who are unable to have babies of their own, that it would be a very graceful deed to save the baby from abortion and give him/her up for adoption by such couples.

I have first hand experience since my niece and her husband were unable to conceive, and was blessed with a beautiful boy from a mother that was unable/unwilling to keep him, but instead of having him aborted, gave him up for them to become very proud parents.

Now both the boy and the parents are so happy that it is worth all the effort.

Please be circumspect in your deliberations about this bill, for it could prevent countless such happy matches.

Regards..

Gert de Bruijn.
